Thursday nite-

Dearest Mother & Daddy:

You will probably get this when I am home, but I will write it anyway. Today is Thanksgiving Day, and I am having to work tonight starting at 5 PM. It is rough, but fair. Right? I am stillplanning on leaving here Sunday at the latest, and will probably be home intime for supper Monday night, if not sooner. I have 5½ hours lay over in Roanoke, Va., and Rosalie is going to meet me at the train, and go home for supper with her. Fancher and another Sergeant from Birmingham will be with me, and we will all go with her to her home for supper. She sure is nice to me. Right?

Heard from Lottie today. She is well, and said Mother was going to Birmingham for Thanksgiving. Did you go to,Daddy?

Today is a beautiful day, and sure do wish I could take some pictures, but this post won't allow you to take pictures. I haven't taken pictures since I left La. on 27 August 1943. Rough, isn't it?

So until, Monday, I will say au revoir, and be good.

Love,

Harold
